

Empowering the Healthcare Enterprise

Deliver Dynamic Digital Experiences Across Channels and Devices with dotCMS

DotCMS empowers healthcare enterprises with the ability to create dynamic web and digital experiences across platforms, channels and devices. Because dotCMS supports massive multi-site, multi-channel operations, without requiring an army of resources to manage and maintain the system, it is particularly attractive and cost effective in the healthcare setting.

Designed with complex care delivery networks in mind, dotCMS excels in the multi-branded, multisite web operations environment often required in healthcare related businesses.

dotCMS

Java Open Source Content Management System for Healthcare

For companies that demand high performance and easy integration in their Web operations and digital experience management - DotCMS is built on open standards; JSON, XML, REST, Spring, OSGI and CMIS. dotCMS is the business smart, developer friendly CMS. Extensible and massively scalable, companies can rapidly deliver personalized, engaging content across devices, channels, second screens and endpoints, all from a single system.

To learn more, visit: dotcms.com

Why dotCMS?

Build Faster – Web designers and content editors are empowered to build and manage sites without relying on technical resources. They can make changes and build dynamic and interactive online experiences without a software developer.

Enterprise Ready – Open API architecture, front-end and back-end internationalization, industry-leading multisite capabilities, scalable and cloud ready, ability to run on multiple enterprise application servers and databases, granular permissions and customizable workflows, all ready to go out of the box.

Cost Effective – dotCMS is priced 30% to 70% below comparable enterprise grade closed-source systems. And with a flexible and scalable IT footprint and our Managed Hosting options, you do not need an army of engineers to support the system, making dotCMS budget friendly all around the organization.

Company and Community Supported – Customers can participate in the growing and dynamic dotCMS Community: Forum, Code Share, GitHub, tech support etc.,. The dotCMS Community is a group of professional, commercial-minded and active contributors that give you confidence and added support from choosing open source.

We Understand - Results Matter in Healthcare

Every organization has unique goals relating to their desired outcomes. So often in healthcare, these goals go beyond delivering quality patient care and center on increasing efficiencies and reducing costs in operations. Hear what one of our healthcare customers says about the results they experienced with dotCMS:

HCA

Hospital Corporation of America

"As we looked closer at dotCMS, it became clear that their platform and development efforts were squarely aligned with today's multi-facility care delivery networks and multi-site web operations."

- John Scudder

Hospital Corporation of America

Learn More:

dotcms.com

Contact Us:

+1-305-900-2001

info@dotcms.com

North America

3059 Grand Avenue, Suite 410-B

Miami, FL, 33133

South America

Eurocenter Diursa

Primera Etapa, Piso 2, Oficina

Barreal de Heredia,

frente a Cenada, Costa Rica

DotCMS in Action - Client Testimonial

"Frankly, we couldn't find any other solution that would support and allow us to uniquely brand our almost 1000 different business entities online and at the same time enable us to share functionality and code across sites and applications. The implications here dramatically lower the cost of maintenance and operations compared to other solutions.

Even more...we've been able to build, manage, and maintain our network of 980 websites without needing an army of developers or creating a giant stress in the budget. Our CFO actually referred to our web operations as "immaterial" since we are operating at such a low cost. There's no question that dotCMS has been a strategic and operational advantage for our web operations, and it is the key software component in delivering rich digital experiences across our platforms and channels."

- dotCMS Healthcare Industry Customer

Innovating Digital Experiences

DotCMS is no stranger to the healthcare industry and healthcare IT. With strong roots in delivering innovative dynamic digital experiences in healthcare and health IT related companies, we can show you how to bring forward thinking and innovation to your patient and consumer digital health initiatives.

To learn more, drop us a line at info@dotcms.com and request a free personalized demo with a dotCMS healthcare product specialist.

dotCMS